

Shang is a modular rug hand made with a wool cord in mélangé colours.

The rug is entirely shaped by hand and then machine sewn with a thread in the same colour of the cord.

The floor can be seen through the gaps within and between the elements.

Shang is available in three versions:

- rug produced with round decorated modules sewn together to create alternate geometric sequences; each module has a diameter of about 70 cm.
- rug consisting of one round decorated module,
- rug consisting of one pentagonal module.

Only one colour can be chosen.

Materials and production techniques advise against the use of Shang in high traffic areas.

